Nondenominated Postage Stamps of the United States
Non-Denominated United States Postage Stamps

Non-denominated postage stamps are stamps with no value printed on the face of the stamp. As postal costs increased, the Postal Service began to increase their rates for the various classes of mail. Before becoming effective, however, these rate increases had to be submitted to the Postal Rate Commission for approval. Often, the PRC would take as much as a year conducting studies and compiling data before accepting or rejecting the changes. If the rate increase was approved, the Postal Service then had to rush to design and produce the new stamps. In 1975, the Postal Service began printing non-denominated stamps so it would be ready and waiting for the next rate change. A letter of the alphabet was used to represent the unknown rate, so the stamps could meet customer demand until new definitives bearing the actual rate were printed.

This album includes non-denominated stamps issued prior to the initial use of “Forever” stamps in 2010.

10¢ Prang (Early Greeting Card)
Scott 1580 • 1975

The United States Postal Service first used non-denominated (also called no value indicated – NVI) stamps in 1975. As the end of the year approached, there was uncertainty as to the timing of a rate increase. That year's Christmas stamps were printed without a denomination, giving the Postal Service the flexibility to refrain from reprinting millions of stamps should the rate increase go into effect prior to the holiday. The stamps have a value of 10¢ as the rate increase did not occur until December 31, 1975.

15¢ “A” Eagle
Scott 1735–36 • 1978

When the postage rates increased in 1978 from 13¢ to 15¢, the first stamp with the denomination indicated by a letter was put into use. The stamps were prepared in case of a shortage of stamps in the uncertain new denomination. They were sold for 15¢ for domestic use only.

Issued in sheet (Scott 1735) and booklet (Scott 1736) formats.

18¢ “B” Eagle
Scott 1818–20 • 1981

In 1981 the Postal Rate Commission proposed an increase in postage rates. This proposal was accepted “under protest” by the Postal Service. Subsequently, the USPS released the “B” stamp until sufficient quantities of the 18¢ stamp could be printed. The “B” stamp is identical to the “A” stamp except the color and the letter designation.

Issued in sheet (Scott 1818), booklet (Scott 1819), and coil (Scott 1820) formats.

20¢ “C” Eagle
Scott 1946–48 • 1981

October brought a second postal rate increase for 1981. Without the increase “the Postal Service would have incurred continuing and dangerously high operating losses.” However, the uncertainty of the timing of the rate increase caused the need for another non-denominated stamp. The “C” stamp was issued to fill this need. Since the Universal Postal Union had a rule that non-denominated postage could not be used on international mail, the words “Domestic Mail” were added to the stamp.

Issued in sheet (Scott 1946), coil (Scott 1947), and booklet (Scott 1948) formats.

20¢ Holiday Celebration: Christmas
Madonna & Child by Botticelli
Scott 1939 • 1981

The Christmas stamps issued in 1981 were originally intended to be at the 18¢ rate. However, with the Postal Rate Commission studying the need for a rate increase, the USPS deleted the value on their designs. The religious Christmas stamp features a Botticelli Madonna and Child from a painting housed at the Art Institute of Chicago. The secular design (also in a non-denominated format) showed a felt teddy bear seated on a sleigh with a special Christmas present.

22¢ “D” Eagle
Scott 2111–13 • 1985
Immediately after the 1981 rate increase, the USPS ordered the printing of 2.25 billion “D” stamps. The stamps sat in storage for nearly four year until the next postal rate increase took effect.
Issued in sheet (Scott 2111), coil (Scott 2112), and booklet (Scott 2113) formats.

25¢ “E” Earth
Scott 2277, 2279, 2282 • 1988
Design for the non-denominated “E” stamp began shortly after the issuance of the “D” stamp. Because of the strong dislike of the “drab” appearance of the earlier non-denominated stamps, the postal service looked for an image that began with the letter “E.” The design was unveiled in February, but the stamps were not issued until March 22. The actual rate increase did not happen until April 3.
Issued in sheet (Scott 2277), booklet (Scott 2282), and coil (Scott 2279) formats.

29¢ “F” Flower
Scott 2517–20 • 1991
“F” is for flower was the subject for the non-denominated stamp issued in January 1991. This stamp was more explicit than previous non-denominated stamps that read “Domestic” or “Domestic Mail.” The “F” stamp was inscribed “For U.S. addresses only.”
Issued in sheet (Scott 2517), coil (2518), booklet, 11.2 perfs (Scott 2519), and booklet, 10.7 perfs (Scott 2520) formats.

4¢ Makeup Rate
Scott 2521 • 1991
As postage rates increased over the years, patrons would scramble to find 2¢ or 3¢ stamps for the additional postage needed to go with their old first-class rate stamps. With the increase of 1991, the USPS opted to help patrons by issuing a “Makeup Rate” stamp. There was no image on the stamp, as the wording filled the face of the stamp.

29¢ “F” Flag
Scott 2522 • 1991
An “F” is for “flag” non-denominated stamp was also issued. This stamp was issued in dollar bill-sized booklet, with a unique self-adhesive polyester material in the thickness and weight to be used in automatic teller machines (ATMs).
“For U.S. Addresses Only” was inscribed on the stamp.

29¢ Holiday Celebration: Christmas
Madonna and Child by Antoniazzo
Scott 2578 • 1991

As the USPS prepared for the printing of the holiday stamps for 1991, they were hopeful that a rate increase would happen before the end of the year. The stamps were printed without a denomination, ready for the increase. However, the rate was rejected by the Postal Rate Commission.

Even without a denomination, the 1991 Christmas stamps were allowed to be used for international mail.

29¢ Holiday Celebration: Holiday • 1991
Santa Claus in Chimney • Scott 2579–81
Santa Claus Checking List • Scott 2582
Santa Claus with Present Under Tree • Scott 2583
Santa Claus at Fireplace • Scott 2584
Santa Class and Sleigh • Scott 2585

The 1991 secular Christmas stamps were issued in booklet form. The booklets each contained five panes, with each pane consisting of stamps of one design in a block format. As the booklet was opened, the first pane showed Santa climbing down the chimney, followed by Santa standing beside the Christmas tree checking his list. The third pane showed Santa taking gifts from his bag and the fourth pane showed Santa preparing to go back up the chimney. The final pane has Santa in his sleigh with his reindeer pulling him skyward through the snowy night — finishing the "Night Before Christmas" story.

The Santa Claus in Chimney stamp was also issued in a pane of 50 (Scott 2579.) Additionally, when this stamp was prepared for the printing of the booklets, the two stamps on the left of each pane became positioned slightly different than those on the right. Therefore, they have been given different Scott numbers — Scott 2580 for each stamp on the left and Scott 2581 for each stamp on the right.

10¢ Eagle and Shield bulk rate
Scott 2602–04 • 1991
Scott 3270–71 • 1998

Bulk rates are dependent upon the degree to which the mailing is presorted. When postage rates increased in the Spring of 1991, there were more than a dozen fractional rates for a bulk mailing. Mailers would affix a 5¢ or 10¢ and then pay the additionally needed fee at the post office. This led the public to believe bulk mailers were paying only 5¢ per envelope.

The Eagle and Shield Bulk Rate non-denominated stamp eliminated this misconception.

3¢ Dove Make-Up Rate
Scott 2877–78 • 1994

As postal rates continued to climb, the Postal Service prepared another non-denominated stamp whose value would make up the difference between the current postage rate and the new, higher rate. They decided on an issue that would be more attractive than the all-words make-up rate stamp issued in 1991.

A dove with an olive branch in its beak on a tan background, was chosen for the design. The wording on the stamp reads “The ‘G’ Rate make-up stamp.”

Two different printers were chosen to produce the stamp. Scott 2877 has a bright blue dove and thin type. Scott 2878 has a dark blue dove and a thicker, bolder type.

32¢ “G” Old Glory
Scott 2879–93 • 1994

On December 12, 1994 the Postal Service Board of Governors approved an increase in postage rates that would become effective on January 1, 1995. The following day the USPS released a series of non-denominated “G” stamps. The first-class stamps had the words “For U.S. addresses only” inscribed across the bottom. However, by the time the stamps were put to use, the Universal Postal Union had changed their ruling and non-denominated postage was permitted on foreign-bound mail.

32¢ Love, Cherub from Sistine Madonna, by Raphael
Scott 2948–49 • 1995
As the USPS prepared to have a Love stamp available for Valentine's Day mailings, the timing of a rate increase had yet to be determined. For 1995 they chose the Cherubs from Raphael's painting Sistine Madonna. The stamps were printed with the year “1995” where the denomination would normally have appeared. Issued in sheet format (Scott 2948) and self-adhesive, convertible booklets (Scott 2949.)

5¢ American Scenes: Mountain
Scott 2903–04, 2904A • 1996
2904 B • 1997
The nonprofit, non-denominated Mountain stamp was the second in the American Scenes series. This stamp gave mailers a choice of stamps, as the Butte stamp remained on sale.

Two different printers were used to produce this stamp. Scott 2903 with a purple and multi-colored mountain was issued in coils of 500 and 3,000, while Scott 2904 with a blue and multi-colored mountain was issued in coils of 10,000.

10¢ American Transportation: Automobile
Scott 2905–06 • 1995
The bulk rate, non-denominated Automobile stamp was the first in the American Transportation series. The design is a rendition of an early 20th century automobile.

The words “Bulk Rate” were printed on the face of the stamp. As with the non-profit stamps, mailers would pay the additional amount needed to cover the actual cost of the postage.

Two different printers were used to produce this stamp. Scott 2908 is darker and bolder, while Scott 2908A is lighter in color. Also the date “1995” is printed in larger type on Scott 2908A.

Diner
Scott 3208–3208A • 1998
The Diner is as American as the apple pie it serves. The first diners were horse-drawn wagons that traveled around towns. In the early 1900s they became permanent structures.

Two different printers were used to produce this stamp. Scott 3208 is darker, and the details are strongly outlined, while Scott 3208A is a lighter color. Also the date “1995” is printed in larger type on Scott 3208A.

5¢ American Scenes: Butte
Scott 2902 • 1995; Scott 2902B • 1996
With the rate change of 1995, the USPS began issuing a non-denominated stamp series for each type of discounted postage. The non-profit series was to be the American Scenes.

The 1995 issue shows a Butte, a tall rock formation with steep sides and a flat top, as can be seen in the southwestern United States.

Issued in a coil format (Scott 2902.) In 1996 the same design was issued in a coil, self-adhesive format (Scott 2902B.)

5¢ American Scenes: Wetlands
Scott 3207 and 3207A • 1998
The Wetlands nonprofit stamps was the third in the American Scenes series. Although generic in design, the stamp image reflects the swamps along the eastern coast of the United States.

Scott 3207, issued in June, had water-activated gum. Scott 3207A, issued in December of the same year, was self-adhesive. The date “1998” is printed in smaller type on Scott 3207A.

10¢ American Transportation: Green Bicycle
Scott 3228–29 • 1998
The presorted standard, Green Bicycle stamp shows the front portion of a racing bike.

The words "Presorted Std" were printed on the face of the stamp. As with several previously issued stamps, the Green Bicycle was produced by two different printers.

The date on Scott 3228 is approximately 1.5 mm wide, while the date on Scott 3229 is approximately 2 mm wide.

The “H” make-up rate stamp was to stand for “hen,” but a rooster, with its comb, tail, and wattles, looks more stately on a weathervane. This stamp can be found in two formats. Scott 3257 has a white “USA” and a black “1998” while on Scott 3258 the “USA” is printed in blue screen and the “1998” is blue.

33¢ “H” Uncle Sam’s Top Hat
Scott 3260, 3264 – 69 • 1998
“H” is for hat — Uncle Sam’s Top Hat.
Although the USPS was aware of the upcoming rate increase a full six months prior before it took effect, they felt that was not enough time to have stamps ready to fulfill the public’s needs. Therefore, the “H” stamps that had been printed in May of 1997 were put into use. The inscription on the stamp reads “First-Class Rate.”

34¢ Flower
Scott 3454–65 • 2000

Also released in December, 2000, were 12 varieties of non-denominated flower stamps. As with the Statue of Liberty stamps, flowers had been depicted on several previous USPS issues. This was the first set of U.S. stamps to have actual photographs of flowers on them. The names of the flowers — freesia, Asian hybrid lily, cymbidium orchid, and longiflorum lily — are not identified on the stamps.

34¢ Love Series
Rose With Love Letter
Scott 3496 • 2001
Both before and after John Adams (2nd president of U.S.) and Abigail Smith were married, they often wrote letters telling the other of their love. One of these letters was used for the background of the 2001 Love stamp.

Denominated stamps with the same design were issued at a later date.

10¢ American Culture series
Atlas Statue at Rockefeller Center
Scott 3520 • 2001
Scott 3770 • 2003
The statue of Atlas that stands in front of the International Building in Manhattan was chosen as the design for this presorted stamp.
Issued in coils of 10,000, this self-adhesive stamp was to replace the Green Bicycle stamp issued 3 years earlier.
The wording “Presorted Std” acted as a precancel, meaning envelopes bearing this stamp did not need to go through a canceling machine.
Although produced by different printing companies, the 2003 issue differs from the 2001 issue only in the date printed in the lower left corner of the stamp.

15¢ American Culture series
Woody Wagon
Scott 3522 • 2001
In the late 1950s many surfers had woodies to haul their equipment. Consequently, there is no surprise that the Woody Wagon depicted in this stamp has a surfboard extending from the back of the car.
This Presorted First-Class [post] card stamp was issued in coils of 10,000 and is self-adhesive.

37¢ U.S. Flag
Scott 3620–25 • 2002
When the non-denominated flag stamp was issued in June of 2002, it was the first time a non-denominated and denominated stamp of the same rate were released at the same time. The U.S. Flag stamp resembles the “United We Stand” flag that was issued shortly after the events of 9/11/2001. However this issue only shows a close-up of a portion of the stripes along with a corner of the blue field and stars.

37¢ Antique Toys
Scott 3626–29 • 2002
Toys like those depicted on the non-denominated Antique Toys se-ttenant were first manufactured in the late 19th century. Following the Civil War, manufacturers turned to mass production of cast-iron toys. After each piece of toy was made, it was sanded, polished, and then the pieces were joined to form the final product.
With the postal rate increase of June, 2002, the USPS had prepared a se-ttenant block of four non-denominated stamps featuring antique toys. The words “First Class” appeared on the face of the stamps which were printed in convertible and vending machine booklet, self-adhesive formats. A denominated version of the same set was issued later the same year. The toys were photographed at the Strong Museum located in Rochester, New York.

25¢ American Eagle
Scott 3792–3801 • 2003
Scott 3792a–3801a • 2005

As early as 1776, the Continental Congress had appointed a committee to design a Seal to represent the United States. Six years later the Congress adopted a design of the American Bald Eagle, a shield of 13 red and white stripes (representing the original 13 colonies,) and a blue bar uniting the shield (representing the Congress.)

The nondenominated presorted first-class rate coil issued by the USPS depicted a portion of the eagle from the Great Shield of the United States. The coil of 10,000 was comprised of se-tenant strips of 10 stamps that differed only in color.

The stamps were reissued in 2005, adding the letter “a” to each Scott number.

39¢  Lady Liberty and Flag
   Scott 3965–70 and 3972–75 • 2005

When a postage rate increase was announced for January 2006, a design showing two of the most recognized symbols in the United States were combined — the American flag and the Statue of Liberty. With the a portion of a waving flag in the background, the Statue of Liberty is in the foreground showing her upper body, right arm with the torch, and left arm with a book.

39¢ Love: True Blue

Scott 3976 • 2006

The “True Blue Love” stamp features two birds, facing each other with body and beaks forming a heart. It was issued as a love stamp in January 2006. The same stamp was issued later that year with a denomination printed on it.

This first class stamp was issued in convertible booklet format with self-adhesive gum.

41¢ Flag

Scott 4129–35 • 2007

With the rate increase in 2007, a full image of the American flag was chosen to be the subject on the stamp. A tan background enhances the red, white, and blue flag. The background color extends through the perfs of the stamp, therefore, the date “2007” was printed in the flag pole.

10¢ Patriotic Banner

Scott 4157–58 • 2007

Scott 4385 • 2009

A simple, but striking design was chosen for the image for this non-denominated, standard mail presort rate coil. The design consists of 13 red and white stripes along the edges with a blue field extending from the top to the bottom of the center of the stamp. Three white stars and the words “USA” and “Presorted Standard” printed in gold are on the blue.
